Each year tens of thousands of travelers steer their motor homes or campers into Wal-Mart parking lots to camp for a night or two. Not because they have to. Rather because they want to. Just as they seek out national parks and historic sites, RV travelers have marked Wal-Mart stores as travel destinations. Full of irony, THIS IS NOWHERE humorously captures the motivations of this subculture as it documents the essence of American attitudes toward nature, equality, and civic values. A witty documentary that chronicles the hopes and dreams of a segment of the American society that makes the recreational vehicles their primary residence.
